

Rationale

Introduction

The unit plan is designed based on a sh-digraph poem, “Sharkie”. It aims at improving P.4 students’ pronunciation in both segmental and suprasegmental aspects. The story-like nature of this poem provides a context for students to enhance their speaking and listening skills. A task-based approach is mainly adopted in the unit plan to allow students to internalise the necessary knowledge in an enjoyable learning experience (CDC, 2004). Use of teaching methods of other kind of theory can also be found in the task design for students’ better acquisition of target skills and knowledge. There are four lessons in the unit. The first lesson works on comprehension of content of poem. One pronunciation problem is covered in each lesson afterwards. The final lesson serves as a consolidation of previous knowledge and assessment of learning outcomes.

Pronunciation problem

The segmental pronunciation problem to be tackled in the unit is the substitution of /s/ for /ʃ/. Mispronunciation of consonants is given the highest priority in affecting communicative intelligibility in Hewings (2004). Substituting one consonant with another can lead to completely different meaning conveyance. Moreover, according to the data from the pronunciation corpus developed by Chen, Wang, Wong and Chan (2014), 60% of Hong Kong students are identified with mispronunciation of /ʃ/ to /s/. It comes to the necessity to teach correct pronunciation of /s/ and /ʃ/ in schools.

The suprasegmental problem taught in the unit is sentence stress. Invariable stress may fail to draw audience’s attention to key messages, and hence affect their understanding of meaning. Moreover, the syllable-timed rhythm, which is a typical L1 transferred feature of Cantonese speakers (Ng & Chen, 2011), caused by the lack of stress leads to unnatural pauses in between words. Improvement in the suprasegmentals has the greatest impact in intelligibility and boosting learners’ confidence in speaking in short term (McNerney and Mendelson, 1992). It is not unachievable that students can see obvious improvement in speaking through attending formal lesson activities.

Task/Activity Planning

Teaching /s/ and /ʃ/

A listening task is always placed before speaking when teaching both pronunciation of /ʃ/ and sentence stress. Arranging teaching in such sequence can reduce students’ speaking anxiety by providing them a correct model to stretch and improve their own pronunciation (Hewings, 2004). Listening to audios in the Kahoot game and authentic recordings of ESL students from the online corpus can have students’ full attention to hearing the phonemic difference instead of predicting the pronunciation from spellings.

Due to L1 intervention, some students may find it hard to reproduce /ʃ/ sound even though they can distinguish the two sounds perfectly. Therefore, it is important for teachers to make good use of user-friendly explanation and visual aids to make pronunciation of the two consonants concrete (Kelly, 2000). Showing side-view diagrams and actual demonstration of placement of lips, teeth, and tongue, as well as relating pronunciation of sounds to real-life examples, can significantly narrow clarify abstract concepts. For example, teacher teaches pronunciation of /ʃ/ by putting a finger in front of the lips saying, “What sound do you make if you want others to keep quiet?”

In addition, teachers are advised to teach pronunciation of /s/ before /ʃ/ to suit developmental approximation. It is found that L2 learners acquire better by tracing how they speak in their L1 (Celce-Murcia et. al, 1996). Therefore, students may acquire better by practising pronunciation of /s/, which is presented in Cantonese, before that of /ʃ/.

Teaching sentence stress

The selection of the poem Sharkie not only provides a context for the reasonable frequent use the target segmental items, but also provide metrical patterns that help beginners stress words easier, as well as meaningful expressions that promote natural addition of stress. Furthermore, the use of a mini-drama provides a communicative purpose to add stress to utterance.

Using drama in teaching addresses to students’ emotion and cognition, which enhances students’ memorisation of target knowledge. According to Immordino-Yang and Faeth (2010), emotion guides cognitive learning in either a conscious or a nonconscious way. When students are planning how to perform, they retrieve their personal and social experience of expressing emotion. They are in the process of consciously using their creativity and cognition to apply the skills of reading with sentence stress to realise their situation in their mind. While in the actual performance, their gesture and facial expression facilitate better oral expression. Excitement and interest possibly developed from performing a drama is a kind of nonconscious emotion reaction which contributes to students’ acquisition of language.

Unit Plan

Level: P.4

Number of students: 30

Unit: Sharkie and the pirates

Number of lessons: 4 (40 mins per lesson)

Source material: “Sharkie”

Text Type: Poem

Prior Knowledge:

- Present tense
- Basic poem structure (i.e. stanza)

Learning Targets:

By the end of the unit, students are able to

1. distinguish /s/ for /ʃ/ sounds when listening to recordings of words and sentences.
2. understand how to pronounce /s/ and /ʃ/.
3. pronounce /s/ and /ʃ/ correctly when reading aloud the poem.
4. understand when to put stress in a sentence.
5. Read and perform the poem with appropriate sentence stress in the mini-drama.

Main teaching activities/tasks:

- teacher’s drama performance of the poem
- Corpus-based listening and reading tasks
- Kahoot online game
- Word wheel
- Mini-drama/ video-taking (group work)

Lesson 1

Learning objectives:

By the end of the lesson, students are able to

1. comprehend the poem “Sharkie” by drawing from contextual and pictorial clues
2. predict meaning of unknown words with the aid of pictures and gestures.

Language skills:

- Listening skills: (1) understand teachers’ questions
(2) comprehend content of poem with the help from pictorial and motion cues and prebuilt context
- Speaking skills: (1) respond to teachers’ questions correctly in complete sentence
(2) describe an image in mind with the help of a 5Ws speaking frame
- Reading skills: (1) comprehend the poem with pictorial and motion cues

Prior knowledge:

Students are able to

1. respond in complete sentence to 5Ws questions

Materials:

- PowerPoint (PPT) slides of poem
- costumes of a pirate (e.g. eye patch, pirate hat, sword, gown)
- fishing rod
- cardboard or doll of a shark
- worksheet 1
- soundtrack for pre-task
- computer and laser presentation remote
- projector and screen

Lesson Procedures:

Lesson 2

Learning objectives:

By the end of the lesson, students are able to

1. differentiate /s/ and /ʃ/ when listening to recordings of unknown words.
2. identify mispronunciation of /ʃ/ to /s/ when listening to recordings of sentence.
3. pronounce words with /s/ and /ʃ/ correctly in the poem.

Language skills:

- Listening skills: (1) differentiate /s/ and /ʃ/
(2) identify substitution of /s/ for /ʃ/
- Speaking skills: (1) pronounce words with /s/ and /ʃ/ correctly
- Reading skills: (1) determine the pronunciation (/s/ or /ʃ/) of a word from its spelling.

Prior knowledge:

Students are able to

1. Understand and pronounce difficult vocabulary in the poem (i.e. pirate, shabby ship, sight, splish and splash, crew, stew, shake, tip)
2. Comprehend the poem

Teaching materials:

- Corpus recordings (/s/ & /ʃ/)
- Worksheet 2 x30
- Electronic gadgets x30 (optional)
- computer
- projector and screen

Lesson 3

Learning objectives:

By the end of the lesson, students are able to

1. Understand when to put stress in a sentence
2. Read the poem with appropriate sentence stress

Language skills:

- Listening skills: (1) identify words emphasised in a sentence
- Speaking skills: (1) read poem with appropriate sentence stress
- Reading skills: (1) comprehend the poem and identify content words to put stress on

Prior knowledge:

Students are able to

1. Pronounce /s/ and /ʃ/ correctly
2. Read the difficult vocabulary in the poem

Lesson 4

Learning objectives:

By the end of the lesson, students are able to

1. Read the poem with appropriate sentence stress

Language skills:

- Listening skills: (1) identify sentence stress when listening to other students' reading aloud
- Speaking skills: (1) perform poem with appropriate sentence stress and correct pronunciation of /s/ and /f/.
(2) express of ideas in group discussion

Prior knowledge:

Students are able to

1. Pronounce /s/ and /f/ correctly
2. Determine words to put stress on in a sentence
3. Read sentences with appropriate sentence stress

Teaching materials:

- Video recorder/electronic gadgets
- Props and costumes of pirates
- Sample video

PPT of poem

Sharkie

Two pirates on a shabby ship,

Go sailing on a fishing trip.

They fish all day and fish all night,

But there is not a fish in sight.

Then in the shadows of the dark,

They see a fish and shout, "Shark!"

The shark pushes on the shabby ship,

Now it begins to shake and tip.

The ship goes down with such a Crash,

The pirates have to splish and splash!

When Sharkie sees the splashing crew

She finishes off some pirate stew!

Worksheet 1 + Answer key

Unit: Sharkie and the pirates

Class: _____ Name: _____ ( ) Date: _____

A. Fill in the blank

- Read the words in the box.
- Read each sentence.
- Choose the correct word and write in the blank to complete the sentence. Some words may be used more than once.

pirates shabby ship sight tip shake splish splash crew stew

- Sharkie uses the _____ to make a _____.
- They cannot find a fish. Instead, they find a shark in _____.
- It attacks the ship and the ship starts to _____ and _____.
- One day, two _____ go fishing on a _____.
- The _____ breaks down.
- Therefore, the _____ has to _____ and _____ into the sea.

B. Arrange in order

- Read the above sentence again.
- Arrange the sentences in order.
- Write the number of each sentence in the blanks. One has been done as an example.

_____ → _____ → _____ → (5) → _____ → _____

Unit: Sharkie and the pirates

Class: _____ Name: _____ ( ) Date: _____

A. Fill in the blank

- iv. Read the words in the box.
- v. Read each sentence.
- vi. Choose the correct word and write in the blank to complete the sentence. Some words may be used more than once.

pirates shabby ship sight tip shake splish splash crew stew

- (1) Sharkie uses the pirates/crew to make a stew.
- (2) They cannot find a fish. Instead, they find a shark in sight.

Directions to download soundtracks in Freesound

Step 1: Go to Freesound.

1. Search "Freesound" and click into the link.

A screenshot of a Google search results page for the query "Freesound". The search bar at the top contains the word "Freesound". Below the search bar, the first search result is highlighted with a red box. This result is titled "Freesound - Freesound" and includes the URL "https://freesound.org/". A red line points from the text "1. Search 'Freesound' and click into the link." to this search result. To the right of the search results, there is a preview of the Freesound website, showing its logo and some introductory text.

Or

2. Type in the website <http://freesound.org/> and go.

A screenshot of a web browser's address bar. The address bar contains the text "freesound.org". A red box highlights the address bar, and a red line points from the text "2. Type in the website http://freesound.org/ and go." to this box. Below the address bar, a list of search suggestions is visible, including "freesound.org - Freesound - Freesound" and "https://freesound.org/people/desdur/sounds/347707/ - Freesound - 'stormy sea.wav' by desdur". Below the suggestions, the Google logo is visible, along with a search input field containing the placeholder text "在 Google 搜尋或輸入網址".

You will then get to the main page.

The screenshot shows the Freesound website main page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Freesound logo, a search bar, and links for Register, Log In, and Upload Sounds. Below the navigation bar, there are tabs for Sounds, Forums, People, and Help. The main content area is divided into several sections: a 'Random sound of the day' section featuring '3 Egg Shaker Rolls' by brunoselli; a 'Freesound Blog' section with articles like '2017 in numbers', 'Community update December 2017', 'Community update November 2017', and 'Community update October 2017'; a 'Welcome to Freesound' section with a t-shirt advertisement; and an 'Active Forum Threads' section with links to 'Cannot upload FLAC', 'challenge', and 'Need 3 2 minute chiptune/dub tracks'.

Step 2: Find your soundtrack.

The screenshot shows the Freesound website search bar. The search bar is highlighted with a red box and contains the text 'S0S0W0S'. A red arrow points from a text box to the search bar. The text box contains the text: 'Type in and search the sound that you want to find. E.g. seawave.' The rest of the page content is the same as in the previous screenshot.

You will find a lot of results regarding sounds of seawave.

The screenshot shows the freesound website interface. At the top, there are navigation links for 'Sounds', 'Forums', 'People', and 'Help'. A search bar contains the text 'seawave'. Below the search bar, there are several search results, each with a waveform visualization, a title, a description, and a star rating. The results include tracks like 'seashore_waves.wav', 'Liras, wind and seawaves', 'sea.wav', 'rivulet into the sea.wav', and 'sea.wav'. On the right side, there are sections for 'licenses' (Attribution (27), Attribution Noncommercial (6), Creative Commons (22), Sampling+ (1)), 'tags' (ambience, beach, coast, field-recording, etc.), 'type' (flac (2), mp3 (7), wav (47)), 'sample rate' (44100 (31), 48000 (25)), and 'bit depth'.

Step 3: Listen and pick your soundtrack.

2. Click on the title and listen at the page of the soundtrack.

Step 4: Download your soundtrack.

Download the soundtrack by clicking on the "Download" button.

Sample drama script of performing “Sharkie”

After introducing the story of the poem ...

T: Class, we are very lucky today. Do you know why? The pirate in the story has come! He is outside the classroom. Let's welcome him with a big hand!

(Students clapping hand. Teacher walks out of the classroom to pretend bringing in the pirate, and then come back into the classroom dressed in the costume of a pirate.)

T: Hahaha, hello children! I am Captain Smith, the bravest man in the world! It's my, oh no no, it's YOUR pleasure to meet me. Miss XX told me you are interested to know things happening on the sea. You have the right person here. I know everything on the sea. Ummm, what story should I tell you? How about “Sharkie”? Are you brave enough to hear the story?

T: OK. Let's start. [stanza 1] Two pirates in a shabby ship. Go sailing on a fishing trip (do gesture of fishing with the fishing rod). They fish all day and fish all night. But there is no fish (spread hands) in sight (put a hand above eyes and look around). Children, the two pirates go fishing but did they see a fish? Do you think they will see a fish?

T: [stanza 2] Then in the shadows of dark (decreasing volume to show horror). They see a fish (imitate a fish swimming with hands) and shout “SHARK!”. The shark pushes on the shabby ship (pushes against the wall). Now it begins to shake and tip (shake and tip). Children, did they see a fish? What is the fish? What did the shark do? What will happen? Can someone make a guess?

T: Good guess! After the shark pushes on the ship, [stanza 3, line 1-3] The ship goes down with such a crash. The pirates have to splish and splash (pretend to jump off the ship into the sea). When the Sharkie sees the splashing crew (put up hands signalling “HELP”). (volume and pace slowly goes down). Children, do you know what happen? What is the ending?

T: [stanza 3, line 4] She finishes some pirate stew (pretend to hold a spoon and stirring a large pot of soup, lick lips). What happen to the pirates?

T: Oh my god! I see a shark coming! (looking out of the classroom) I have to go back to my ship and save my crews. Goodbye! See you! (walk out of the classroom and change back to the role of teacher)

Sample drama script for co-teaching

Teacher 1 (T1): Captain

Teacher 2 (T2): Crew

After introducing the story of the poem ...

Teacher 1: Before telling the story, I have to bring 2 people to class.

(T1 & T2 turn back and wear costumes)

T2: Hahahaha, Captain! I've heard something from Pirates Daily, my friend told me

T1: (curious) What!? Tell me quickly.

T2: Let me tell you, [stanza 1] Two pirates in a shabby ship. Go sailing on a fishing trip (do gesture of fishing with the fishing rod). They fish all day and fish all night. But there is no fish (spread hands) in sight (put a hand above eyes and look around).

T1: I know that already, huh.

T2: (shocked) You know it already! (To the class) She know it already! Do you know? Do you know what happen? (invite students to guess)

T1: (to the class) Let me tell you. Let me tell you all! [stanza 2] Then in the shadows of dark (decreasing volume to show horror). They see a fish (imitate a fish swimming with hands) and shout (T1&T2 together) "SHARK!". The shark pushes on the shabby ship (T1 & T2 push against each other). Now it begins to shake and tip (T1 and T2 shake and tip).

T2: (nervous) Oh my god! (ask the class) What happened? What happen to the pirates? What did the shark do?

T2: Em...but I don't know what happen then. (to the class) how about you? Do you know? Can you tell me? (inviting students to predict the following)

T1: Good guess! After the shark pushes on the ship, [stanza 3] The ship goes down with such a crash. The pirates have to splish and splash (T1 & T2 pretend to jump off the ship into the sea). When the Sharkie sees the splashing crew (T1 & T2 put up their hands signalling "HELP"). (volume and pace slowly goes down) She finishes some pirate stew (pretend to hold a spoon and stirring a large pot of soup).

T2: (unbelievable) Oh no! Where are they now???

T1: I'm afraid they... (tap tummy)

T2: They were ... (to the class) Do you know what happen to the pirates?

T2: (look out of the classroom) Oh my god! Captain! I see Sharkie! She's swimming to our ship!

T1: What! We have to go back to our ship, NOW! Run!

(T1 and T2 dash out of the classroom and come back into the classroom in the role of teacher)

Directions to set up and use online discussion forum on Schoology

Step 1: Go to Schoology (<https://www.schoology.com/>)

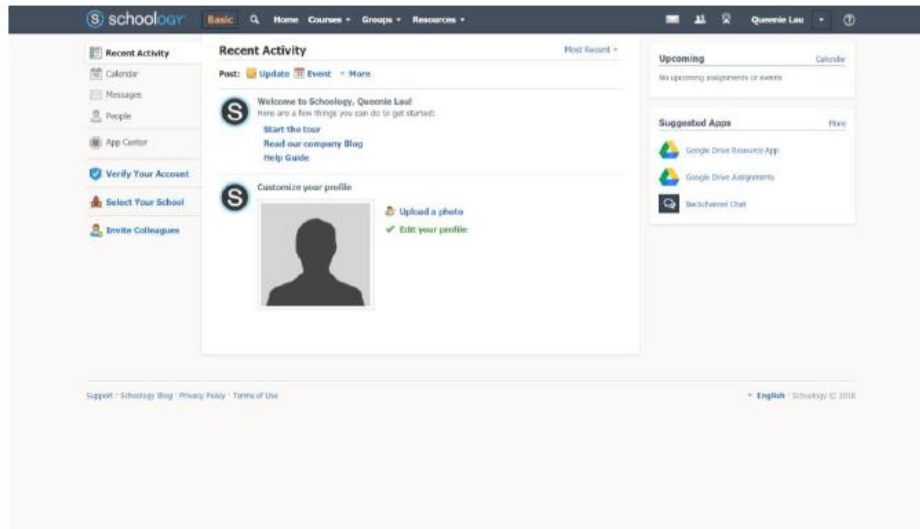

The screenshot shows the Schoology homepage. At the top is a dark blue navigation bar with the Schoology logo, links for Tour, Stories, Connect, Resources, Blog, and About, and buttons for Log In, Sign Up, and Request a Demo. The main content area features a large image of a person lying on a grassy hill with a laptop and a bicycle. Overlaid on this image is the text "The perfect course made possible by Schoology". Below the image, the text "Schoology /skoo-luh-jee/" is displayed, followed by the tagline "The only learning management system (LMS) that connects all the people, content, and systems that fuel education." At the bottom, there are three colored buttons: K-12 (blue), Higher Ed (green), and Corporate (purple).

Step 2: Create an account

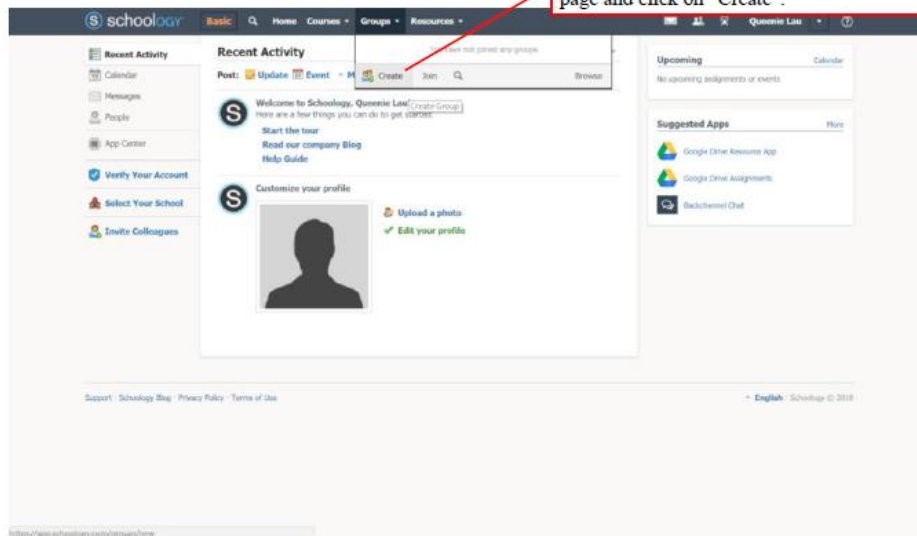

The screenshot shows the Schoology sign-up process. The navigation bar is the same as in Step 1. The main content area features a large image of a dirt path winding through a forest. Overlaid on this image is the text "Individualized made possible by Schoology". A white sign-up form is open, titled "Sign up for Schoology". It has three buttons: "Instructor" (highlighted with a red box and a red arrow pointing to it), "Student", and "Parent". Below the form, the text "Schoology /skoo-luh-jee/" and the tagline "The only learning management system (LMS) that connects all the people, content, and systems that fuel education." are visible. At the bottom, there are three colored buttons: K-12 (blue), Higher Ed (green), and Corporate (purple). A small URL "https://www.schoology.com/register?role=Instructor" is visible at the bottom left.

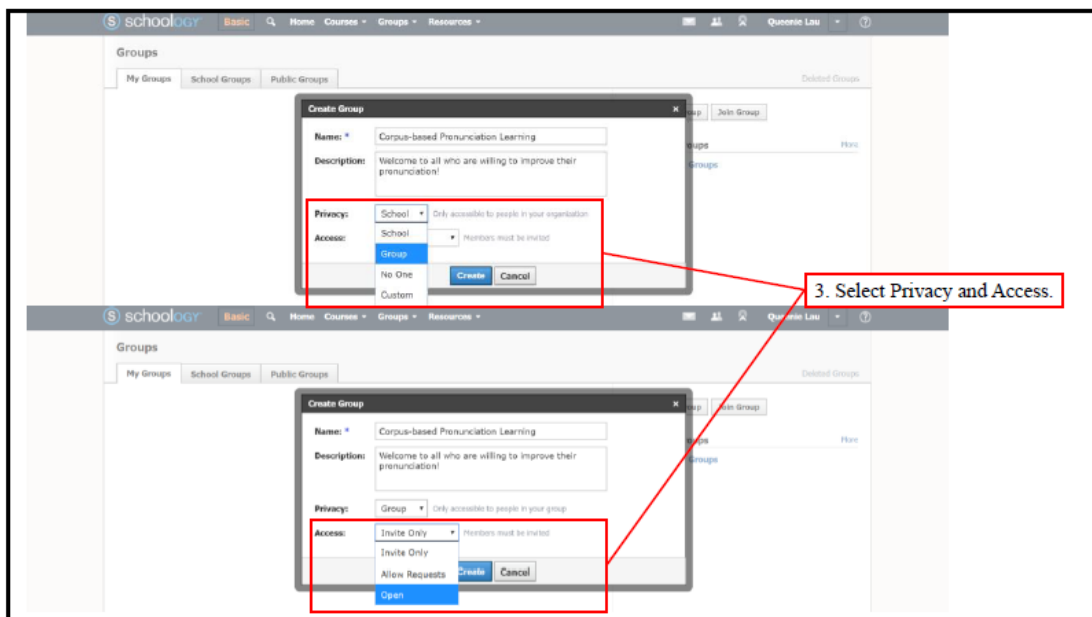

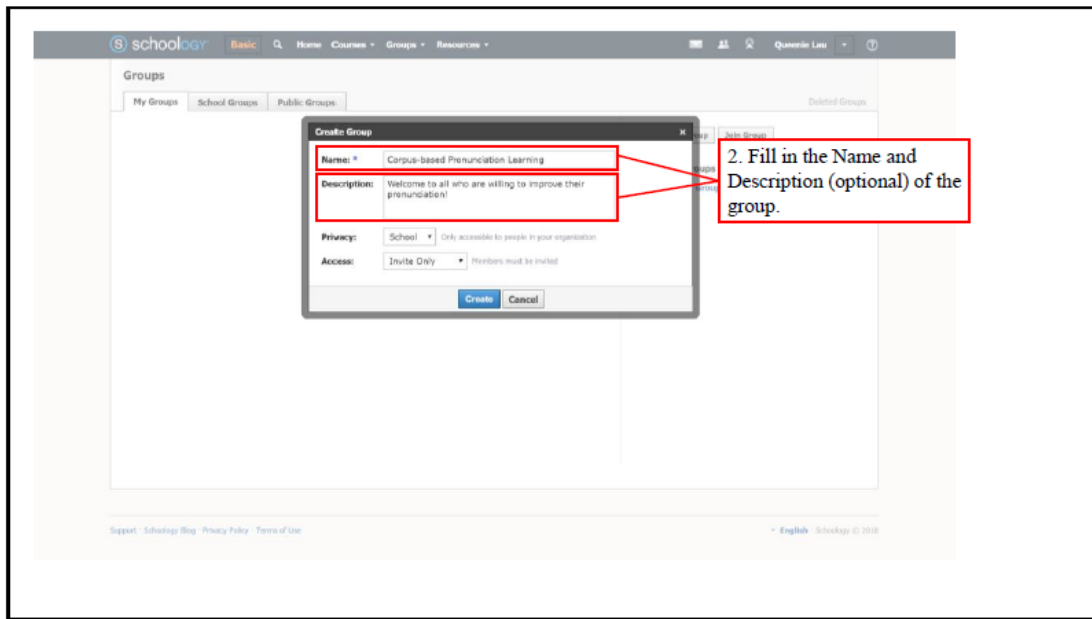

You will see the following main page after logging in.

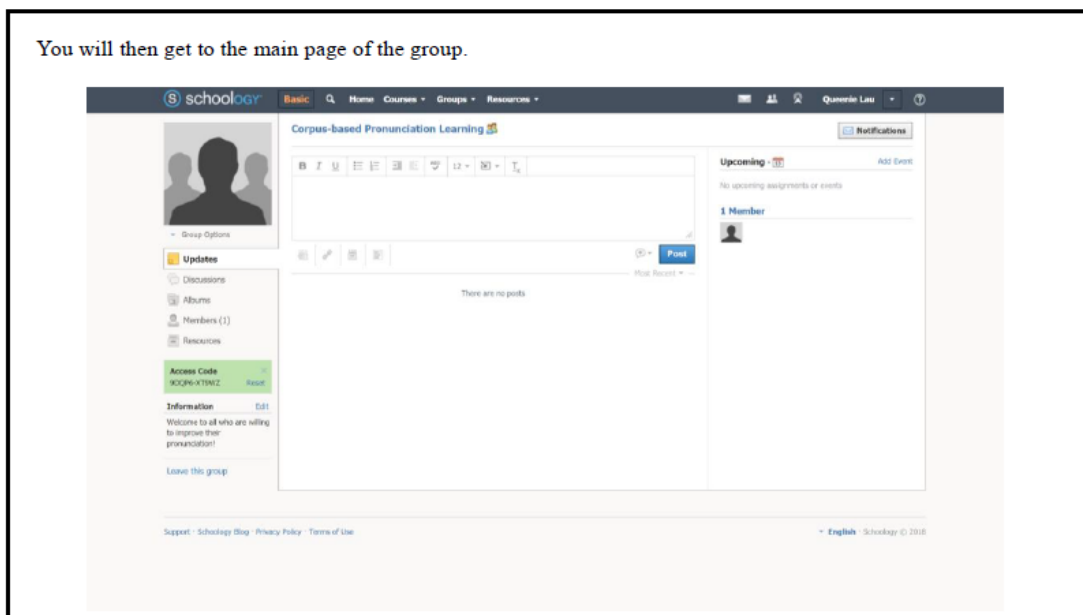

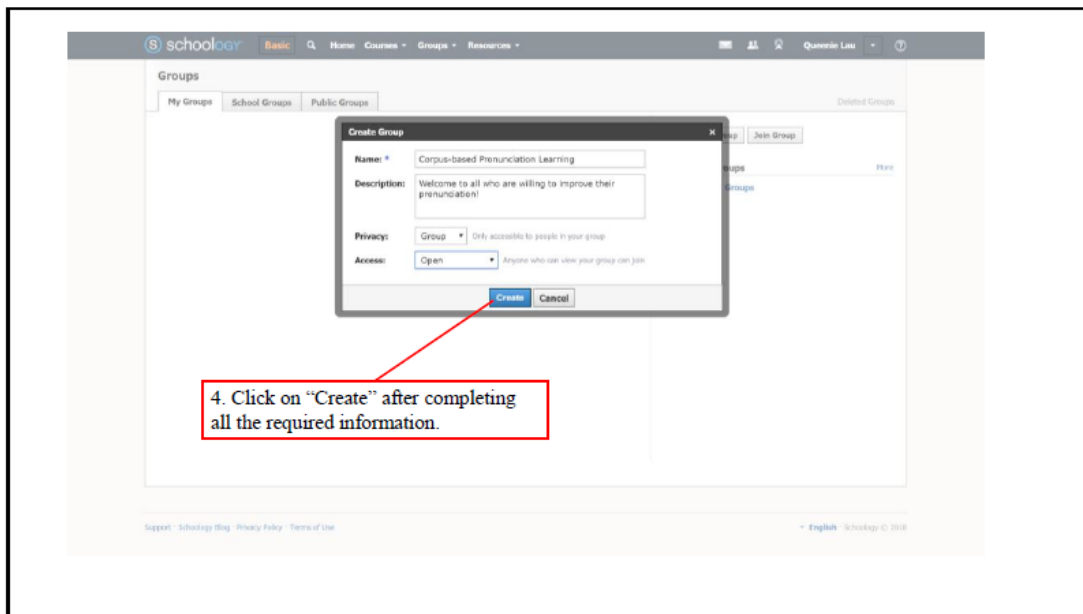

Step 3: Create a group

1. Select "Group" on the bar on top of the page and click on "Create".

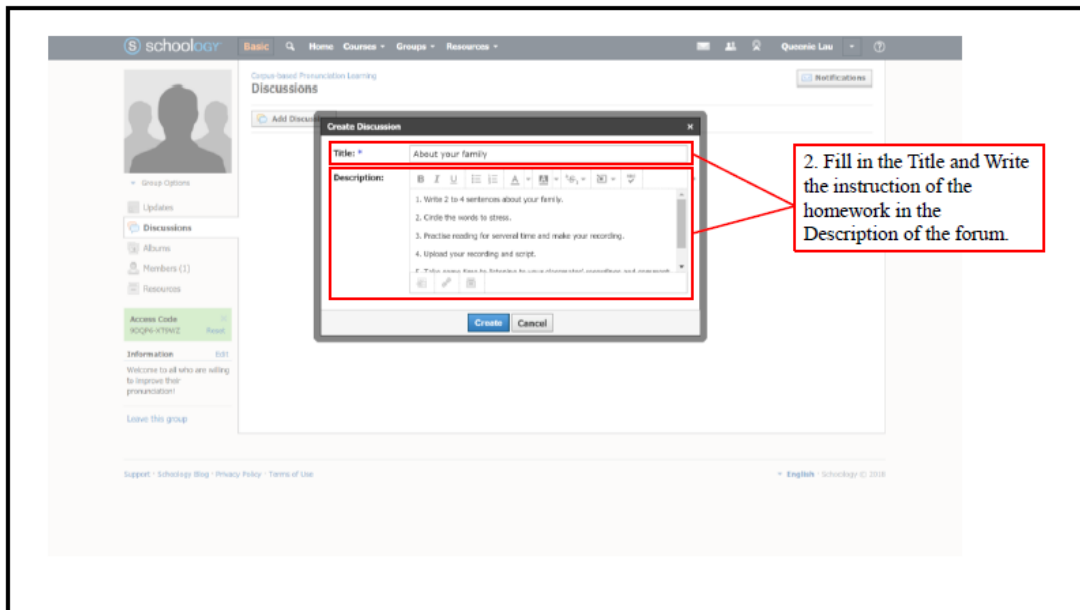

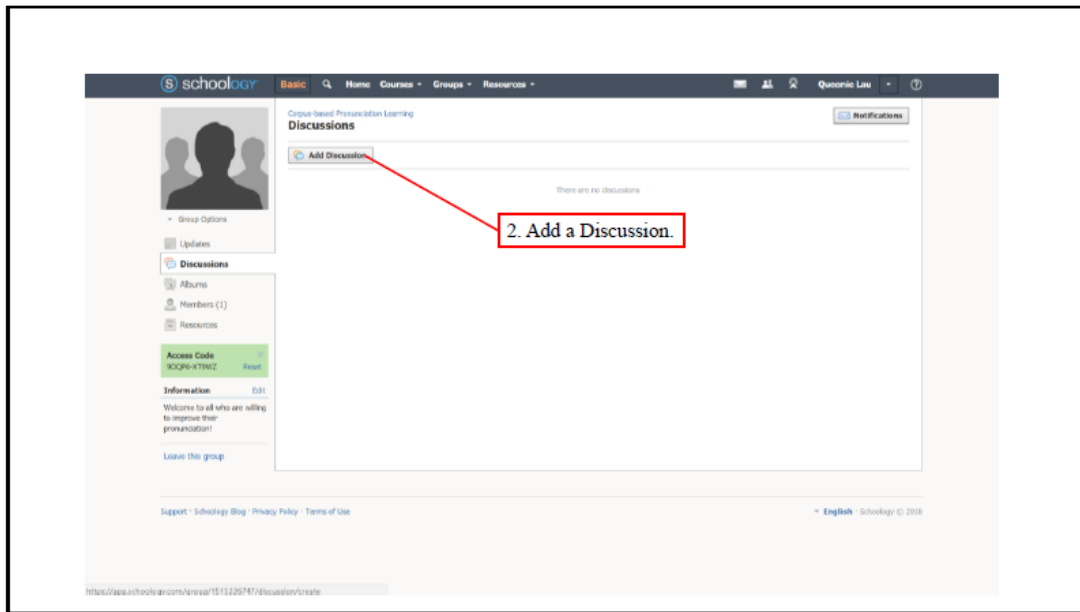

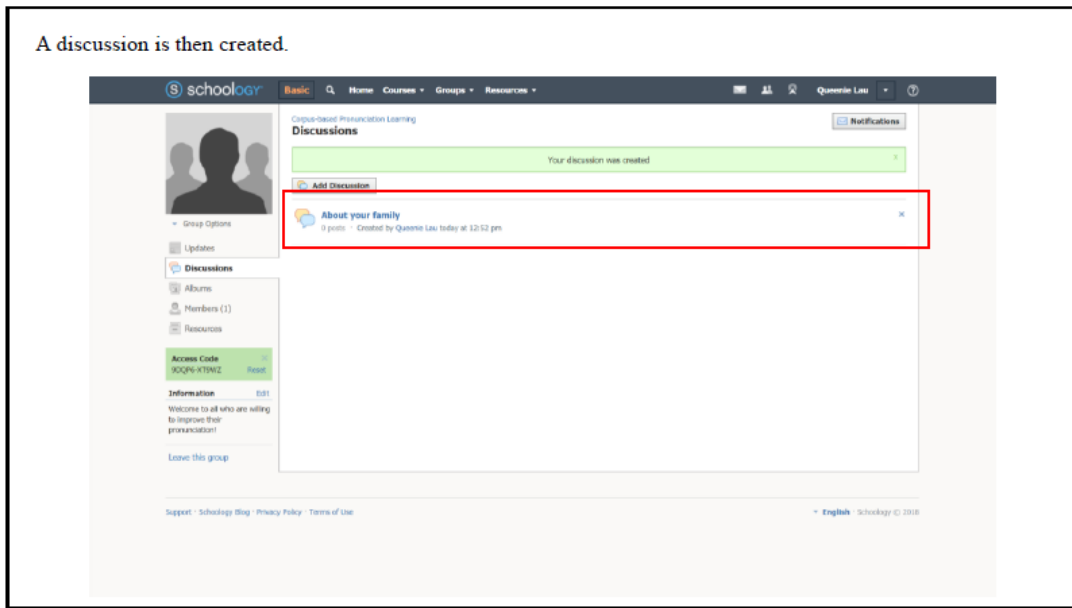

The screenshot shows the Schoology interface for a group named "Corpus-based Pronunciation Learning". On the left sidebar, the "Access Code" field is highlighted with a red box and contains the code "XCC9H-VT9MZ". A red callout box points to this field with the text: "Student can get into the group using this Access Code after signing up as a student." The main content area shows a text editor with the message "There are no posts" and a "Post" button. The right sidebar shows "Upcoming" events and "1 Member".

Step 4: Set up a Discussion Forum

The screenshot shows the "Discussions" page for the "Corpus-based Pronunciation Learning" group. The sidebar on the left has the "Access Code" link highlighted in green and a red box around it. A red callout box points to this link with the text: "1. Go to the Discussion page." The main content area shows an "Add Discussion" button and the message "There are no discussions".

A discussion is then created.

Details can be viewed after clicking into it.

Students can post under the topic by writing in the textbox and attaching files or adding links.
