Arriving new place
Finding your way

Prepared by Ashley Yip
Explore the area

- Rio de Janeiro City Centre

❖ We’re new to the city!
❖ Find the locations for the buildings in the City Centre of Rio de Janeiro.
❖ Share your information in groups of 5.
❖ Let’s complete the big map together!
Can you find the consonants?

Consonants

Semi-vowels

Vowels
Consonant Cluster
Flame avenue

Vs.

Fame
Blue Street

Street
Blue Street

Vs.

S-cheeet
We need to blend!

Consonant

Consonant

Consonant cluster
Learn from corpus

Is it really a problem?

Segmental
Syllable structure change
Omission of consonant(s)
How many speakers omit consonant(s)?

39 (97.5%)

Listen to 1-3 samples. What are the problems of missing consonants?
The Boy Who Cried Wolf (omission of /l/)

There was once a poor shepherd boy who used to watch his flocks in the fields next to a dark forest near the foot of a mountain. One hot afternoon, he thought up a good plan to get some company for himself (omission of /f/) and also (omission of /l/) have a little fun. Raising his fist in the air, he ran down to the village shouting /Wolf, Wolf/ (omission of /l/) As soon as they heard him, the villagers all (omission of /l/) rushed from (omission of /r/) their homes, full (omission of /l/) of concern for his safety, and two of his cousins even stayed (omission of /d/) with him for a short while.

This gave the boy so much pleasure that (omission of /l/) a few days later he tried exactly (omission of /g/ and /k/) the same trick again, and once more he was successful (omission of /l/). However, not long after, a wolf (omission of /l/) that (omission of /r/) had just (omission of /r/) escaped (omission of /p/) from the zoo was looking for a change from (omission of /r/) its usual diet of chicken and duck. So, overcoming its fear of being shot, it (omission of /t/) actually did come out from (omission of /r/) the forest (omission of /r/ and /r/) and began to threaten the sheep (omission of /p/). Racing down to the village, the boy of course cried out even louder than before. Unfortunately, as all (omission of /l/) the villagers were convinced that he was trying to fool (omission of /l/) them a third time, they told (omission of /l/ and /d/) him, "Go away and don't bother us again." And so the wolf (omission of /l/) had a feast.
Take out your tablet

Consonant cluster ex 1

Where are you going?
Exercise 1| Exercise 1 Pronunciation Journey

Instruction: Listen to the recording and find the destination of the journey in the following picture and write down the destination on the lines below.

Where are you going?

[start]

[adapted from Hancock 1995, p.37]

Type your answers here
Are they different?

Bright  Right
Bank  Blank
Pray  Play
Trap  Tap
Time for a challenge!
Smith spends his morning by the sea every Friday.
He slowly swims towards the stop stick.
He climbs up the stick and stands still on it.
He starts to sweat as the sun shines bright.
But he stays still on the stick as if he is standing on a stool.
This is his weekly training to be slim and smart.
Now you know the secret of Smith!

Smith spends his morning by the sea every Friday. He slowly swims towards the stop stick. He climbs up the stick and stands still on it. He starts to sweat as the sun shines bright. But he stays still on the stick as if he is standing on a stool. This is his weekly training to be slim and smart.
Where do you want to go this weekend?
Drop the figure into the map.
Tell your partner the route to your destination!

Move your figure here to find out where your partners want to go!
Don’t forget to tell the street names clearly!